ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTS

SATURDAY, OCT. 7, 1916

DOLLAR DAY EDITION

On Monday the Record will issue its annual Dollar Day edition. This will set forth in attractive manner the offerings of Hickory merchants for Thursday, October 12, and the papers will be distributed near and far. Readers are urged to observe the advertisements and to patronize those firms which have made preparations for the big day.

A merchant who will not cooperate in making the day a success, who will not aid in the cost of advertising the event, should expect to continue in the old rut, because, not being willing to pull for the community, he should be unwilling to reap benefits at the expense of his more wide-awake neighbors. We are sure the public will not find any merchant here trying to induce them into his place after other merchants have paid the price. The public, knowing the facts, would not want such a dealer to make special offers.

Therefore the Record feels that it can ask its readers in all fairness to themselves and to the merchants who have shown that they are alive good thing for the community—though not a direct money-maker for themselves—to patronize these merchants who have shown that they are alive to the occasion, who are working for the good of all, and who may be known by their friends.

Their advertisements, it is unnecessary to state, will be found in Monday's Record.

WAGES KEEP PACE

The statement of Mr. M. L. Shipman, commissioner of labor and printing, that wages in North Carolina have increased along with the high cost of foodstuffs is borne out by local business men who say that in Hickory wages have been raised at many manufacturing plants and that the prices here in many cases are higher than prevail in other towns of like size, or even larger. This fact was not announced publicly, however. Hickory business men with the interest of the community at heart long have realized that good wages are more important to the city's growth than a big population of poorly-paid workers. The substantial prosperity of any city is based on the number of homes owned by wage-earners, and the building and loan figures bear eloquent testimony to the fact that Hickory is not surpassed by any community in the number of persons who have a clear title to the houses they live in.

IT SHOULD BE REMEDIED

The Charlotte Observer notes that Dr. Charles Holmes Herty, professor of chemistry in the University of North Carolina, and president of the American Chemical Society, an honor he held for two terms, has been chosen editor of the American Chemical Journal, a position which Dr. Herty will take and which will carry him out of the state. Like the Observer we regret to have Dr. Herty leave, but realize that until North Carolina is willing to pay the price, it cannot expect to hold all its gifted men in the state. Fortunately the chemistry department of the university, which now is the equal of any in the country, has a number of first rate chemists, including former President Venable and Dr. Wheeler. Yet the next time a member of the faculty is called, there might be no strong man to take his place; and in any event, the public would do well to infer that

LET'S GO FORWARD

The Greensboro Record, an independent, comments on an editorial in the Raleigh Times in which no pride is taken in the fact that the cost of government in North Carolina is less per capita than any state except South Carolina. The Hickory Record has held similar views, and it cannot offer congratulations because the state is not spending more money. Mr. Linney's efforts to make capital out of expenditures are disproved by the facts, and when that gentleman comes up four years from now, let's give him some basis for his charge. Let's take care of the Confederate soldiers, the educational institutions, the homes for the unfortunate and others—but let's not establish any more new enterprises just now.

SURE, THEY WILL

We are glad Mr. Wilson received a big ovation on his western trip. We are glad that the people, regardless of political affiliations, cheered him round y or approved his manly words when he declared that this nation is not afraid to uphold the right, but that it is insistent on knowing the right before it fights. That is Americanism, we hope and pray. A nation with the history of this great nation, which in spite of its faults, often has stopped to consider the weak, has sympathized with the oppressed and frequently gone to their rescue—such a people are neither too proud nor too afraid to fight.

President Wilson struck the keynote in Omaha. Americans want to be sure their cause is just before taking sides in any quarrel, but their history is proof that they will fight.

The many friends of Max Gardner in Hickory will beg him to greet him when he appears here tonight. Mr. Gardner is a vigorous speaker, has studied politics and knows the game thoroughly, and plays it like a man. He is an able, genial and industrious youth, and is well worthy of the honor to which he aspires and his Hickory supporters will do the fine thing by him.

Until Rumania has been sending out reports for a month or two yet, the public would do well to infer that Bucharest is as bad as Vienna and So. And that sentiment can be applied to Catawba with equal force, a raid.

"After all, our fair will be just about what we make it," observes the Durham Herald in commenting on the Durham County Fair to be held there. And that sentiment can be applied to Catawba with equal force, a raid.

If the United States joins a league of nations to enforce peace, it will need its navy.

Times Are Good.

Factories are running, wages are high, crops are bringing record prices and money is plentiful; in fact times were never better in our section

For the person who wants to get ahead, now is the golden opportunity, and every thoughtful person will see the wisdom of laying by something for the rainy day that always comes.

The young man who wastes the best earning period of his life without getting a start is handicapped throughout his life, while a little capital laid by in times of prosperity like these will help him over many a tight place.

The easiest and safest way to save money is to open a bank account, spend a little less than you make, and keep adding to your balance until an opportunity for investment comes.
